STAPLE FOOD PREMIXES

STAPLE FOOD PREMIXES

In our fast-paced world, it's crucial to acknowledge the relevance of nutritional gaps in everyday diets. Many individuals rely on processed and convenience foods that often lack essential vitamins and minerals, unknowingly fall short of their daily nutrient requirements, leading to a range of health consequences. Grain flours such as wheat flour, rice flour and maize flour to name a few are regularly used in day-to-day cooking. Fortification of such staple foods with vitamins and minerals helps ensure the fulfilment of daily nutritional requirements.

Such staple foods provide the perfect channel for delivery of required micronutrients through every meal consumed. MIAVIT Food specializes in creating customized vitamin and mineral blends according to customer requirements for various staple foods.

MIAVIT FOOD

The extensive experience and knowledge at MIAVIT Food enables one to acquire the perfect micronutrient blend for the product at hand. The blends are customized on the bases of need for each product with an aim to minimize compound interactions and undesirable effects to achieve a palatable end product of high standards.
